

Anna Wittenberg / Bio 2018

Anna Wittenberg is an interdisciplinary artist based in Los Angeles working primarily in video, sculpture and installation. She received her BA in Media Studies at Pitzer College in 2008 and an MFA in visual art at the University of California, Riverside in 2017. Anna employs installation and performance in association with video to explore the corporeal dimension of experience. Her work has increasingly focused on questions around performativity and interactivity, and their cultural and biological significance in today's highly mediated landscape. Many of her projects use video and sound to push, alienate or distance, and pull, draw-in or coax, in an effort to interrogate contemporary and historical cultural mores. Anna has held solo exhibitions at BozoMag, Los Angeles and participated in group shows at The Contemporary Museum of Modern Art in Austin, TX, Human Resources, Figures on a Landscape, SOSM in Los Angeles.
